JUST THE JOB: Big businesses from the region talked to students about their futures as part of National Careers Week. Firms Steelite International and Autonet Insurance spoke to year 11 youngsters at Haywood Academy in Burslem about careers and work-based learning opportunities that are linked to the school's sixth form academy.

Pupil Courtney Mountford said: "I think the career day and companies coming into the school is a great idea that helps you realise your career path in a comfortable and familiar environment.

"It was really interesting to hear what they had to say." Picture from left are Courtney and Safiul Miah, who are both aged 16.
